Dear CVSU Online Academy Families:

Middle School

I hope that the middle school students from Orange Center School enjoyed their time this morning with their friends attending school in the building. Middle schoolers from WMHS and NMHS should have an opportunity to participate in an online Meet and Greet with their home schools tomorrow.

Elementary School (grades K - 5)

- NES, WES, OCS, WVS - Students should look for an email in their school account that includes an interest inventory tomorrow, Thursday, September 17th. Please take time to work with your Learning Partner to fill it out with thoughtful answers.

General Information

- If you have not arranged to pick up your student's device, please call your school. They will also provide you with log in information.
- If you are planning on using your own device
  - It MUST be able to support Google Chrome
  - Contact your school to access your student's login information or if you have trouble setting up your student's device

Other

- If your student was/is not able to access their meetings today and tomorrow with their home schools, please let your schools know.

I can't tell you how much I appreciate your patience and am pleased that the program is beginning to roll out. Regular contact with schools is beginning, and information and resources connected to student-centered project based learning will be starting on Monday at the latest. Assuming we do not run into technology snags with our fall assessment data, the Edgenuity portion of the program should be online by October 1. I would like to emphasize that Edgenuity is only one part of the instructional program. Both what we are offering locally as well as what Edgenuity has to offer are equally important learning opportunities for our students and represent what they would be receiving were they enrolled for in person instruction..

Sincerely,
Susette Bollard
Superintendent
